

What happens in the caucus process?

Under Colorado law, there are two ways for a partisan candidate to gain access to the primary election ballot for state, county and district offices:

1. Designation to the Primary Ballot by Assembly

- This the grassroots caucus process.

2. Designation to the Primary Ballot by Petition

*Non-partisan and local offices gain access to the ballot by petition only, in accordance with municipal election code, local charter or home rule ordinance.

There are Precinct Caucuses, District Assembly, County Assembly, Judicial/House/Senate Assemblies, Congressional Assembly, and State Assembly.

Candidates are DESIGNATED to the Primary Election Ballot by Assembly or by Petition.

Candidates are NOMINATED by Primary Election (They become the Republican Party's NOMINEE by winning the Primary Election)
